Town & country at its best

The town

Royal Tunbridge Wells lies at the heart of one of the most scenic stretches of countryside in England surrounded by the unspoilt beauty of the Weald.

Retaining much of the charm of its Georgian heyday – Royal Tunbridge Wells and the surrounding area today remains a favoured destination for those who want to enjoy elegant surroundings and easy access to the countryside within an hour's drive or train ride from the hustle and bustle of London.

The Chalybeate Spring

The Pantiles, the famous white colonnaded walkway, once the central meeting place for visiting gentry, is the historic heart of Royal Tunbridge Wells and today is buzzing with shops and cafés. This is also the site of the original Chalybeate Spring, discovered in 1606. Its reputation for health giving properties was the reason for the growth of the town as a fashionable place to visit and be seen. The town's historic past is very much reflected in its architecture – from Regency villas and large Victorian houses, many designed by Decimus Burton, to pretty clapboard cottages. Evidence of these can be found in the 'village' area situated behind the old High Street, in Mount Ephraim and in Calverley Park and Calverley Park Crescent.

At the centre of the town The Common has been a place of diversion for residents and visitors alike for several hundred years. Its large open green spaces have unusually survived the test of time and nowadays it is a lovely place to walk and for children to play, especially on the popular and unusual outcrop of sandstone rock, known locally as Wellington Rocks. Nearby High Rocks is another fascinating sandstone Scheduled Ancient Monument which is a must-see.

Guided walks & Heritage Walking Trail

Guided Walking Tours of the Pantiles and the old High Street are conducted by accredited Blue Badge Guides and are very popular. The tours are an excellent way of learning more about the colourful history of Royal Tunbridge Wells and its many famous visitors. For further details, including bespoke tours and bookings, please contact the Tourist Information Centre in Royal Tunbridge Wells.

The Heritage Walking Trail links together a series of special plaques commemorating famous residents and visitors to Royal Tunbridge Wells over the past four centuries. It is a wonderful way of discovering more about the historic buildings and streets of the town and its famous visitors, such as Princess (later Queen) Victoria, William Makepeace Thackeray and EM Forster. Copies of the Trail are available from the Tourist Information Centre in Royal Tunbridge Wells or on the visittunbridgewells.com website.

Shopping

Royal Tunbridge Wells offers one of the most unique shopping experiences in south east England with its unrivalled combination of small specialist shops, designer boutiques and big high street names.

The Pantiles is home to a variety of delightful shops, galleries and lovely cafés. Many of the shops in Chapel Place and in the old High Street still retain their original Victorian frontages and now sell designer clothing, home furnishings, gifts and jewellery.

Mount Pleasant leads into the 'modern' part of the town and to Calverley Road, a busy, partly pedestrianised area which has most major high street names to hand. The main entrance to Royal Victoria Place shopping centre is also found here.

Food & drink

Royal Tunbridge Wells has developed a reputation as one of the best places to find good food and drink in the south east. The town and its surrounding area boasts a wide range of excellent traditional English pubs, brasseries and fine restaurants, serving local produce. Visitors can also find local produce to buy at local markets.

Cranbrook

Events & entertainment

The Assembly Hall Theatre, Trinity Theatre and The Forum in Royal Tunbridge Wells offer a wide range of entertainment from opera and ballet to comedy, music and drama, and alongside these are many smaller venues. A number of music events take place in the area throughout the year such as Jazz on the Pantiles and the Bedgebury Pinetum open air concerts alongside lively local gigs.

Around Royal Tunbridge Wells

Royal Tunbridge Wells lies in the unspoilt beauty of the Weald, designated an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. The landscape is a patchwork of rolling hills, ancient woods and open heaths, home to hop gardens, orchards and vineyards, covering this part of the Garden of England in beautiful blossom in spring, cool verdure in summer and vibrant colours in autumn.

The many small towns and villages in the area still retain the true flavour of the English countryside – take time to visit Goudhurst, Lamberhurst, Matfield, Brenchley, Hawkhurst and Benenden. Cranbrook, known as the Capital of the Weald, was once the bustling centre of the region's medieval cloth industry. Today the original, and still working, Union Mill stands as testament to this important part of the region's past as it overlooks this pretty country town. The Cranbrook Museum nearby reveals more about the local area's history, trade and industry.

Castles & historic houses

There are more castles, historic houses and gardens concentrated in this area than any other in England, making Tunbridge Wells the perfect base for a short break for history and garden lovers alike, as well as for those who just want to relax and unwind.

Penshurst Place, home of the Sidney family for 450 years; Hever Castle, the childhood home of Anne Boleyn, second wife of King Henry VIII; and Leeds Castle, known as 'the loveliest castle in the world', are all splendid examples of fine historical buildings set in spectacular grounds and gardens and within easy reach of Royal Tunbridge Wells. The fairytale castles at Bodiam and Tonbridge, both strongholds against invading armies, still stand guard over the River Rother and the River Medway.

Chartwell, once the country home of Sir Winston Churchill; Knole, the largest private house in England and Ightham Mote, an enchanting 650 year old moated manor house, are now all owned by the National Trust and full of fascinating historical treasures. Chiddingstone Castle contains the intriguing antique collections of its last private owner.

Gardens

Come and see how the area lives up to its reputation as the Garden of England. It not only has more than its fair share of the country's top gardens, but also has many gardens which have remained more of a secret.

Pashley Manor Gardens

Sissinghurst Castle Garden and Scotney Castle Garden (surely one of the most romantic gardens in the world), both provide a profusion of colour in the spring and summer months.

Groombridge Place Gardens has much to offer from award winning formal terraced gardens and topiary to the fantasy wilderness of the Enchanted Forest.

Bedgebury National Pinetum and Forest is the home to the national collection of conifer trees occupying over 300 acres.

Hole Park Garden and Merriments are just two of the 'secret' gardens tucked away in the beautiful countryside, both peaceful and colourful.

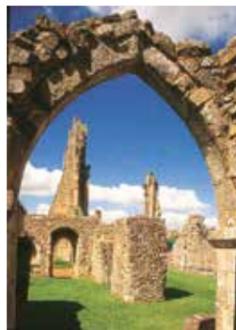

Pashley Manor Gardens, with its display of over 30,000 tulips, combines the colour and tranquillity of the garden with the beauty of modern sculpture and art.

The world-renowned gardens at Great Dixter, Sheffield Park and Wakehurst Place are also within easy driving distance of Royal Tunbridge Wells.

More places to visit

The reservoir at Bewl Water Country Park is the largest area of inland water in the South East, with 21 km of shoreline, and Ashdown Forest, the setting and inspiration for AA Milne's Winnie the Pooh books, both are perfect for walking and exploring.

For a fun-filled day out for the family, why not hop on the Spa Valley Railway and travel by steam train between Royal Tunbridge Wells and Eridge, stopping at High Rocks and Groombridge on the way.

Bayham Abbey

Bedgebury National Pinetum and Forest offers off-road cycling and bridle tracks, as well as a network of scenic walking routes, an imaginative adventure play area, and Go Ape, a tree top adventure course, all set amongst the 2000 acres of Bedgebury Forest.

The striking remains of Bayham Abbey, dating from 1208, stand in a beautiful and peaceful setting alongside the River Teise next to a Georgian gothic house.

Churches

The area is dotted with many intriguing and unusual churches: King Charles the Martyr Church in Chapel Place in Royal Tunbridge Wells; St Dunstan's in Cranbrook, known locally as the 'Cathedral of the Weald'; St Mary's at Speldhurst with its stunning stained glass windows by William Morris and Sir Edward Burne Jones; and All Saints' Church in Tudeley with its magnificent windows designed by Marc Chagall, are just four examples – all well worth a visit.

Walking

The area around Royal Tunbridge Wells has an extensive network of footpaths and bridleways. Long distance routes include the Tunbridge Wells Circular, the Weald Way, the North Downs Way, the Pilgrims Way and the Sussex Border Path. There are many delightful shorter walks in the woodlands and country parks that are scattered around the Weald.

Walking at Sissinghurst

Golf

There are a number of golf courses in the area. The 9-hole Tunbridge Wells Golf Club and the 18-hole Nevill Golf Club both welcome visitors and are within 10 minutes' drive of Royal Tunbridge Wells. In the picturesque village of Lamberhurst visitors are welcomed at the 18-hole parkland golf course that straddles the River Teise.

There are also 18 and 9 hole courses at Hever Castle; 18 holes at Cranbrook Golf Club and 9 holes at Hawkhurst Golf Club. Contact the Tourist Information

Centre for more details.

Cycling

From strenuous mountain biking to family friendly routes, Tunbridge Wells offers a wealth of natural beauty to enhance any bike ride. Bedgebury National Pinetum & Forest has tracks for family rides and mountain biking enthusiasts of all ages and abilities. Bewl Water Country Park provides another great background for mountain biking around the lake shore. Details of other National Cycle Routes through the Wealden countryside can be found at explorekent.org
